volunteers change EVERYTHING®

Where nonprofits and volunteers connect.

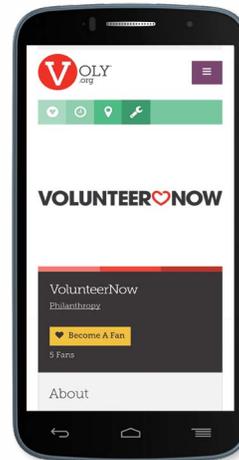

As you pursue your critical mission to affect change in your community, you need a simple and effective way to engage and manage the volunteers you rely upon as your essential unpaid workforce.

An easy-to-use, web-based service, VOLY.org offers you a customized profile page where daily visitors can view and respond to your volunteer opportunities. This fully hosted, cloud-based solution lets your volunteers quickly find and easily sign up for opportunities that match their personal missions and individual schedules—from their computer or a mobile device.

For continuity and ease of communication, your profile page links seamlessly back to your website. You and your volunteers can also spread the word and engage more people with many built-in social media tools. Your unique URL can be used to link volunteers directly to your VOLY.org profile page, and to specific opportunities.

Share unlimited volunteer opportunities.

- Post any number of one-time or ongoing volunteer opportunities. Use photos to capture the attention of individuals and groups who share a passion for your cause.
- Connect with individuals, teams and corporations who care about your cause.

Your dedicated profile page creates visibility, recognition and engagement. It's optimized for viewing on mobile devices.

Match the right volunteers with the right opportunities.

- Multiple filters and a built-in map help automate the prescreening of volunteer applicants, so those who respond to your postings have the interest, skills and availability to meet your needs.
- Every posting has a dedicated URL, so you can link volunteers directly to specific opportunities.
- As volunteers participate, the system “learns” their interests and sends them recurring and new opportunities of a similar nature via a weekly email, giving you an ongoing flow of participants.

Volunteers prescreen themselves using comprehensive filters on VOLY.org to find opportunities that match their skills and passions.

Quickly and easily track and manage volunteers, on a computer or a mobile device.

- Use built-in, automated tools for tracking, scheduling and reporting volunteer activity. Report data can be easily exported for presentation purposes.
- Event rosters, pre-assigned hours and remote check-in make capturing volunteer hours a breeze. VOLY.org will send automatic reminders to each volunteer you approve, and thank you notes when hours are reported.
- Your individualized agency dashboard provides at-a-glance views for upcoming needs, and historical data of your volunteer usage.

VOLY.org eliminates the need to manage individual spreadsheets and databases, easing the administrative burden of recruiting, tracking, managing and reporting volunteer activity.

When causes and people align, your organization achieves true impact.

Chances are, your agency's resources are stretched thin. When you join VOLY.org to support the recruiting and management of volunteers, you'll quickly see a boost in participation and productivity. It takes just minutes to post a volunteer opportunity, using a simple, easy-to-follow user interface. VOLY.org also integrates with third-party applications such as background checking and reporting tools. Get connected—and get growing—with Voly.org.

Our participating agencies are thrilled with the number of volunteer referrals they have been receiving with VOLY.org. Some even report receiving referrals within minutes of posting their needs.

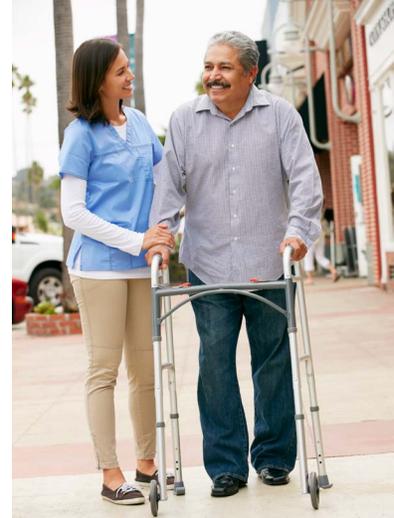

Your trusted connection to vital community needs.

VOLY.org was designed by VolunteerNow—the people who have been immersed in the volunteering world for the past four decades. We continue to collaborate with our users, adding new features to provide the most cost effective, easiest to use volunteer engagement and management solution available today.

You can also trust VOLY.org to protect the security of all private volunteer information against unauthorized access, because the platform employs state-of-the-art, 256-bit encryption.
